Ike Has Busiest Day Since Illness

President Signs Six Documents, Talks With Aide

DENVER, Oct. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower continued to make satisfactory progress toward recovery throughout today and signed half a dozen more official documents, the most since his heart attack.

One of the papers on which Eisenhower put his name in a 10-minute business conference with his top assistant, Sherman Adams, releases $500,000 of disaster relief funds which the Agriculture Department will use for conservation measures in the hurricane-flood damaged states of Connecticut, Massachusetts and North Carolina.

Three of the signatures were on commissions for federal positions and one was on a letter accepting the resignation of Jack K. McFall as ambassador to Finland.

Like the President, McFall has a heart condition and that was the reason for turning in his resignation.

Recess Appointments

The commissions, giving recess appointments requiring Senate confirmation later, were these:

Herbert V. Crochrow, 58, of Evanston, Ill., to be deputy under secretary of state for economic affairs, Crochrow is a Chicago banker and a Republican.

Mansfield D. Sprague, 44, of New Canaan, Conn., to be general counsel of the Department of Defense, replacing Wilber M. Brucker, now secretary of the Army.

John D. Hickerson, 57, of Washington, D.C., to replace McFall as ambassador to Finland. Hickerson is a career diplomat who formerly was assistant secretary of state for international organization affairs and later assistant secretary for United Nations affairs.

Texas Drought Relief

The final signature was on a letter to Gov. Shivers of Texas legalizing drought disaster allocations to the state.

Eisenhower also approved the designation of Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., ambassador to the United Nations as his personal representative at the funeral of Maj. Gen. Julius Ochs Adler, executive vice president of the New York Times.

Before acting on the papers he had rested 2½ hours.

A 4:30 p.m. medical bulletin continued the encouraging reports on Eisenhower's condition.

Six Inmates Flee Mental Hospital

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—Six inmates fled the Fairview State Hospital for the Criminal Insane today after overpowering two guards. Three were recaptured later as a manhunt spread around the area in Northeastern Pennsylvania.

Authorities believed the three inmates still at large may be carrying knives.

Dr. John P. Showlin, hospital superintendent, said Guards Jay Owens and Edward Battle were attracted to the ward housing the escaped inmates when someone yelled for medical attention early this morning.

As the guards entered the main portion of the ward, they were grabbed and rushed to a cell where they were locked in as the six escaped by prying loose a concrete slab, using a fire hose wrench to loosen the mortar around it.

The men apparently walked one mile to Waymart, Pa., where they stole a light pickup truck in which they drove to Honesdale, Pa., six miles farther away and stole an automobile.

Agreement Ratified

HELSINKI, Finland, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Finnish Parliament today ratified the agreement with Russia returning the Porkkala base to Finland and extending the 1948 Russian-Finnish friendship and mutual aid treaty.

Dulles Warns Soviet Against Arming Egypt

American Officials Still Hope Mid-East Race Can Be Avoided

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles disclosed today he has twice told Russia that Communist arms shipments to Egypt would not "contribute" to lessening of the world's strains.

He said American officials "still hope it will be possible to avoid" getting into any arms race in the Middle East.

At the same time, Dulles said "there is every reason to anticipate that before long it will be possible to talk to the President" about any foreign policy matters that may become urgent.

Ike Policy Carried Out

Dulles stressed that Eisenhower's illness has not interfered with carrying out the nation's foreign policy because the National Security Council has continued to operate along lines previously approved by Eisenhower.

He said he personally told Russia's Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov in New York that Communist weapons deliveries to Egypt "would not contribute to relaxing tensions."

Dulles declined to reveal Molotov's reply but said this problem was discussed on two occasions during the past two weeks when he was in New York to attend United Nations meetings.

U. S. Might Aid Israel

Dulles said his remarks to Molotov were similar to a statement he issued at his news conference today in which he said "it is not easy or pleasant to speculate on the probable motives of the Soviet bloc leaders" in shipping weapons.

Egypt plans to buy weapons from Red Czechoslovakia in exchange for cotton.

Dulles left open the possibility of the United States sending arms to Israel to balance any Communist military shipments to Egypt and other Arab countries. He said, in reply to questions, it was impossible to say whether American arms shipments were a "likely prospect," because it would depend on the amount and type of Communist arms provided Arab countries.

Contempt Trial Of Author Opens

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—Author Harvey O'Connor, who challenged the authority of Senate investigators to ask him whether he had been a Communist, went on trial today on a contempt of Congress charge.

O'Connor, testifying before the Senate Investigations subcommittee on July 1, 1953, said that under the constitutional guarantees of the First Amendment "my writings, my books and my political opinions are of no legitimate concern to this committee."

The First Amendment protects the rights of free speech and the free press.

O'Connor did not invoke the Fifth Amendment's protection against possible self-incrimination in refusing to say whether he had been a Communist at the time he had written books purchased by the State Department in its overseas libraries program.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), who was chairman of the investigation subcommittee when O'Connor testified, was the first witness called by Asst. U. S. Atty. William Hitz. McCarthy told of his committee's probe of the overseas information program.

will pay for Eisenhower's hospital and medical expenses, Army officials said the problem had not been resolved. It was learned that one Army ruling still being considered this morning was that the President would be charged the regular rate for civilian officials using military medical facilities.

In discussions of the problem it was pointed out in Army circles that the President had resigned his Army commission before accepting the Republican party nomination in 1952.

The issue was finally resolved by Army Secretary Wilber Brucker, after conferring with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, Army chief of staff. The decision was made that the President would be a "designee" of the Army secretary to receive hospitalization without reimbursement. Army regulations give the civilian head of the Army authority to do this.

Earlier today, when a reporter asked for further details of who

Krishna Menon Calls On World To Abandon War

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Oct. 4 (AP)—India's V. K. Krishna Menon called on the world today to renounce war and throw away its atomic weapons.

"There is only one way before the world and that is for the nations to renounce war as an instrument of national policy," he said at the end of a two hour speech closing the U.N. Assembly's general debate.

"Disarmament is not the way. We can establish peace only if the nations have decided to abandon war. That is possible once confidence is established. You cannot reconcile dreams with schemes."

Conciliatory Address

The Indian chief delegate, who is the top advisor on foreign affairs to Prime Minister Nehru, again urged a halt on experiments with nuclear weapons pending an international agreement on disarmament. He also advocated once more direct talks with the United States and Red China and expressed satisfaction at the way matters are going between those two countries at this stage.

His address was moderate and conciliatory, in keeping with the line taken by most of the 45 chief delegates who spoke in the general debate.

Appeals To France

Krishna Menon was one of the leaders in obtaining the 28-27 vote last Friday by which the U.N. Assembly decided to consider the flaming Algerian issue. As a result of that vote the French delegation walked from the Assembly. Krishna Menon appealed today to the French, whose space was vacant, to return.

He said consideration of a subject is not intervention and India's only aim is to help conciliate the differences between the French government and the Algerians. The French maintain the Assembly vote was intervention in internal affairs in violation of the U.N. charter.

Iowa Villagers Flee From Toxic Fumes

GIBSON, Iowa, Oct. 4 (AP)—The entire population of Gibson, a village of about 100 persons in Southern Iowa, fled today to escape toxic anhydrous ammonia fumes.

The alarm was sounded when a hose broke while the pressurized liquid ammonia was being transferred from a 10,000-gallon railroad tank car into a fertilizer firm's storage tank.

About 3,000 gallons of the ammonia vaporized, the fumes rolling slowly over the village like a heavy fog.

The Gibson telephone operator said that there were no known injuries or deaths. It was more than an hour before the first residents began going back.

$75,000 Farm Fire

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—Fire today destroyed a barn and other buildings on a large dairy farm 18 miles south of here, causing an estimated $75,000 damage.

A milking shed and chicken house were lost along with the barn, but owner Samuel H. Groff, his family and neighbors saved 30 cows and more than 1,000 chickens. More than 100 tons of baled hay, 25 tons of straw and a good deal of farm equipment were destroyed.

Unbelieving Smiles

Flatbush Can Hardly Believe Bums Did It

BROOKLYN, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Dodgers won their first World Series today but frankly, Brooklyn acted like it couldn't quite believe it.

According to tradition, scenes of wild and spontaneous abandon should have swept the streets. Brooklyn fans, however, have been numbed by years of last minute defeats and seven prior denials of baseball's world championship crown.

Nonetheless, Brooklyn wore a happy smile as first baseman Gil Hodges made the final out that insured a 2-0 Dodger victory over the Yankees in the seventh and deciding World Series game.

In Brooklyn office buildings, confetti showered down and cheers echoed through the halls as the victory was clinched. The sound drifted out to motorists in the streets. They leaned on their horns to swell the din.

Even staid Manhattan, whose own World Series victories are accepted with decorous calm, got excited at the Dodger victory. Ticket tape streamed from skyscrapers from Wall Street to Central Park. Rockefeller Plaza was littered with torn telephone books and other scraps of paper set adrift on high by Brooklyn fans in alien territory.

At the precise moment of victory, in a bar in the shadow of Ebbets Field, a shout of victory rang out and glasses were raised aloft.

This, however, was for the benefit of a waiting photographer. The bartender made no move to buy a drink on the house.

Ebbets Field, itself, was tomlike. It was here over the weekend that the Dodgers won three straight games to lay the groundwork for the World Series victory.

Along Flatbush Avenue, Brooklyn's main thoroughfare, some cautious tavern keepers promptly began taking down the bunting they had hung when Brooklyn won the National League championship. They were taking no chances with souvenir hunters.

Major Morocco Battle Brewing

RABAT, Morocco, Oct. 4 (AP)—French troops battled rebel mountain tribesmen today in the fourth straight day of scattered vicious clashes in Eastern and Northern Morocco.

A major battle appeared to be brewing a few miles south of the Spanish Moroccan border. There was no official estimate of the numbers involved, but unofficial accounts for the scene said the area was in "full boil."

The fighting was principally in the Rif Mountains between Taza and the Spanish Moroccan border, some 150 miles west of Rabat. But there were widespread guerrilla-type attacks in sparsely settled areas and the French were hard-pressed to stem the violence.

The tribal raids began a few hours after Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat, with a strong push from the French, left his palace in Rabat and flew to the international city of Tangier. The Sultan's removal was part of a French plan for Moroccan reforms.

The French have charged that much of the new trouble was stirred up by rebels operating from the Spanish zone of Morocco, technically in the orbit of the Sultan at Rabat, since both French and Spanish Morocco make up the Sultan's sherrifian empire.

Co-Pilot Of Crashed Plane Still Missing

UNION CITY, Okla., Oct. 4 (AP)—County officials and volunteers today continued a search over 40 acres of rain-soaked farmland for the missing co-pilot of a two-engine civilian plane which took the lives of three other persons last night when it crashed in flames.

Three bodies were pulled from the charred wreckage three miles north of this little farm community in Central Oklahoma.

The dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. George Skakel Sr., Greenwich, Conn., and the pilot, Joe Warren, 34, of Stratford, Conn. Searchers are looking for the body of the co-pilot, John E. McBride, 31, Stratford.

Trucker Discovers Suicide Difficult

NORRKPING, Sweden, Oct. 4 (AP)—Goran Hartzell, 26, a truck driver, decided to end it all.

Police Chief Gunnar Duner said today Hartzell:

1. Attempted to crash a stolen plane onto his estranged wife's house, missed and hit a power line.

2. Jumped out of a third floor window.

3. Crashed his car into a cliff while driving at 45 miles an hour.

4. Jumped into a river.

5. Tried to jump out of a hospital window where he was taken by police who pursued him through his suicidal efforts.

Duner said Hartzell will be charged with endangering public safety. They added he is a highly-strung fellow.

McNeil Suffers Stroke

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP)—Hector McNeil, British labor party leader, suffered a stroke while en route to the United States on the liner Queen Mary. When the ship docked today, he was removed to the Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center.

The physician, Dr. John Minor, said Lewis was doing well and probably would go home the end of this week.

"No-Bandage" Treatment Of Burns Has Advantages

CHICAGO, Oct. 4 (AP)—A relatively new "no-bandage" treatment of severe burns in children — described as potentially important in any atomic warfare — allows up to 75 per cent reduction in hospital time for such cases, the American Academy of Pediatrics was told today.

Dr. Kenneth J. Welch of Harvard Medical School and Boston City Hospital said children having burns involving from 35 to 70 per cent of the body's surface can be released from the hospital in three to four months, compared with "a year plus" under the conventional method of applying compression bandages.

Free of restraining bandages — "severe burns cases are usually kept wrapped like mummies under the conventional method" — patients are encouraged to get out of bed much more quickly under the newer method, Welch told reporters at the Academy's annual meeting.

Survival rates "compare favorably" with those under the conventional method and, he said, "we think that the infection problem is much less."

Regarding infection protection, he said that under the bandageless "open" method of treatment, the burned surfaces dry out quickly, and that in 48 hours a protective eschar, or scab-like formation, occurs. Patients are also given antibiotic drugs, as they also are under the conventional method.

Welch said his own experience with the method has been limited to children, but that "the method is adaptable to adults" and he sees no reason why similar results could not be obtained with adults.

Administration Concerned Lest Excises Be Cut

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration was described today as "much concerned" lest the government lose revenue through proposed changes in the excise or sales taxes.

The administration position was expressed by Dan T. Smith, special assistant to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey. He was the first witness as a House Ways and Means subcommittee opened hearings as a possible preliminary to overhaul of the century-old excise tax system.

Federal excises are levied on a wide variety of goods and services including liquor, cigars, furs, automobiles, admissions and cosmetics.

Cuts Scheduled April 1

They now account for nine to 10 billion dollars of revenue annually. And unless Congress steps in, this amount will be reduced by around a billion dollars from reductions scheduled April 1 in the levies on automobiles, trucks and buses, gasoline, tobacco, beer, and liquor. Congress has postponed these reductions several times, although it cut many other excises in 1954.

The House subcommittee, headed by Rep. Forand (D-R.I.), has restricted hearings to administrative and technical problems, leaving rates as such for future consideration.

At the outset, Smith said the Treasury will balk at any changes which would cost revenue.

"To the extent that there is any adverse effect on the revenue from the proposed changes," he said, "the Treasury Department will withhold favorable recommendations at this time."

His use of the words "at this time" left the way open for a shift in position next year.

John L. Lewis Had Minor Heart Attack

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (AP)—John L. Lewis' physician said tonight doctors had decided the veteran head of the United Mine Workers "had a very minimum heart attack about two weeks ago."

The physician, Dr. John Minor, said Lewis was doing well and probably would go home the end of this week.

Solar Battery Powers Phones

AMERICUS, Ga., Oct. 4 (AP)—Man harnessed the energy of the Sun today to power a rural telephone line.

A solar battery developed at the Bell Telephone Laboratories, supplied power for an eight-party country line. Farmers on the line reported it worked "real good."

The initial experiment in what may become a revolutionary development in communications and possibly in the power field, was conducted jointly by the laboratories and the Southern Bell Telephone Co.

The battery, made up of 432 thin silicon cells, is housed in an aluminum casing about a yard square. The electrically linked cells, each about the size of a 25 cent piece, are cushioned in oil and covered by glass.

Specially prepared silicon made from common sand generates current from the sun's rays and the power is drained off into a storage battery.

Derailed B&O Freight Cars Smash Stores

Truck Runs Away, Slams Into Train At West Newton, Pa.

WEST NEWTON, Pa., Oct. 4 (AP)—A runaway lumber truck smashed into a moving freight train in this small town today, derailling several freight cars which catapulted into two buildings. The truck driver and four persons in the buildings were killed.

Rolling with terrifying speed down a half-mile hill, the truck knocked the second car of a long Baltimore & Ohio Railroad freight off the rails.

Truck Ground To Pulp

Eight other cars piled up on both sides of the track, hitting the Casale fruit store on one side and the Fries hardware and electric store on the other.

The truck was ground to a pulp under the wreckage, Engineer William McManus of Connelville, Pa., said he saw the truck speeding at his train "but there was nothing I could do about it."

Coroner Joseph R. Check said the truck's brakes apparently failed as it started down the hill into this community of 3,800, about 35 miles southeast of Pittsburgh.

Dead Identified

Check identified the dead as Jacob Casale, 50, owner of the fruit store; Sheryl Ross, 6, daughter of a West Newton restaurant proprietor; Sheryl's grandmother, Mrs. Dora Whiteman, about 70, of Industry, Pa.; Mrs. Martha C. McConnell, 70, of West Newton, and the truck driver, Claude Brandt, 31, of Warrenton, N.C.

Admitted to Frick Memorial Hospital, Mt. Pleasant, in serious condition was Mrs. William Ross, mother of the Ross child. Admitted to McKeesport Hospital in McKeesport was Emily Paterne of West Newton, R. D. 1. She suffered bruises and a foot injury.

The crash blocked the main East-West B. & O. route between Cumberland, Md., and Pittsburgh, Pa. Railroad officials said traffic was re-routed over other tracks.

Three Cars Of Explosives

The train-en route from Baltimore to Chicago—had three cars containing explosives.

Lt. L. A. Peterson of the B. & O. police said one of the cars contained dynamite consigned to the Army.

The Army car was covered by debris from the wrecked buildings and state police ordered the surrounding block evacuated as it roped off as wrecking crews prepared to pull the car from beneath the debris. The other two cars were in the clear.

At least one person—Mrs. Luis Garino—witnessed the crash. She said she was "looking out the window of her second-story apartment across the street from the demolished buildings when she saw the truck roaring downhill."

"It looked like a runaway truck," she said. "It was going awfully fast. I saw the truck hit and then I saw the buildings fall."

Adenauer, Faure To Confer Today

BONN, Germany, Oct. 4 (P)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Premier Edgar Faure will meet in Luxembourg tomorrow to discuss the Geneva conference and the troublesome Saar problem.

The government press office announced tonight that the two leaders will confer for one hour, adjourn for lunch and then resume their discussions if necessary.

In Paris, the Foreign Ministry said Faure and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay will fly to Luxembourg after a cabinet meeting in the morning.

The Foreign Ministry said the talks will be principally in preparation for the meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva Oct. 27.

But West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano yesterday in Washington indicated full German approval of Western strategy for the Geneva meeting.

Therefore, political sources here said, the Luxembourg meeting will be concerned mainly with the threatened rejection by Saarland-

Maryland Merit System Color Rule Wiped Out

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (P)—Maryland today struck some of the color line from its merit system for State Employees.

The state commissioner of personnel sent out new instructions to heads of departments and institutions.

No longer, he said, may they specify persons of a particular race when they send in a requisition for someone to man a job.

There was an old rule which said:

"When the appointing authority's request specifies that only the names of eligibles of a specific sex or color be certified and gives specific reason therefore, the commissioner may, if he believes such reasons to be satisfactory, certify the names only of those of the sex or color specified."

The old rule is now wiped out as regards color. The sex specification remains.

Deletion of the race specification from job requests was described as one of the most significant changes ever made in Maryland's merit system regulations.

TRUCK WRECKS B&O TRAIN — A tractor-trailer truck rolled down a hill at West Newton, Pa., yesterday and slammed into a moving Baltimore and Ohio freight train with the above result. The impact flung the truck and derailed cars into a fruit and hardware store. The buildings crumpled, killing five persons, including the truck driver. # Gambling, Vice Probes Continue BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (P)—Grand juries in Baltimore and in Baltimore County were probing or preparing to probe gambling, police payoffs, and the gaudier aspects of crime and vice today.

The Baltimore City grand jury summoned nine witnesses to appear before it on Thursday for questioning about an alleged shake-down of a southwest Baltimore tavern operator by three policemen.

The city jurors have been looking into conditions along a honky-tonk strip of East Baltimore street known as "The Block," and there were reports today that the inquiry may be extended to similar areas on Charles street, North avenue, Linden avenue, and Pennsylvania avenue.

The grand jury in Baltimore County will meet in an extra session on Monday to investigate enforcement of gambling laws by the county police department. Among witnesses summoned were Col. Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of Maryland State Police, and Baltimore City Police Commissioner James M. Hepbron.

Among other things, the county grand jury wants to know why State Police found it necessary to raid a big gambling headquarters at Turner's Station last week without letting the county police department know of their plans.

Munshower was quoted previously that his men moved in because county officials had failed to act despite repeated complaints. Other State Police sources said the house at Turner's Station was headquarters for a six million dollar a year lottery operation.

He Asked Wrong Woman For Date

BALTIMORE, Oct. 4 (P)—Jay L. Shreve, 34-year-old salesman, was fined $50 today for trying to date a young woman as she walked along North Howard Street in the downtown shopping district.

The gal was a policewoman, Margaret Cimballo.

Magistrate Linwood C. Koger said he was determined to break up the activities of mashers along North Howard Street.

Nine men were arrested there last Saturday between midnight and 2 a.m. as two attractive policewomen acted as decoys.

Soviet Housing Officials Amused

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4 (P)—Ten Russian housing officials were captivated today by assembly-line home production and amused at the planning of living space around the television set.

The Soviet visitors are guests of the National Assn. of Home Builders on a four-week inspection of American housing methods. They visited a spacious development at nearby North Springfield, Va., where 260 homes are being built simultaneously to sell at $14,100 to $17,800.

They listened intently while realtor-builder Edward R. Carr of Washington and his site boss, Shorty Nussbaum, explained how specialized crews of workmen move on prearranged schedule from house to house.

The Russians first showed puzzlement, then broke into laughter when Carr explained through an interpreter the usefulness of a low room-divider between the living and dining areas of his "Monticello" model dwelling.

A swiveling television set placed on the divider can be viewed from either room, Carr said, and solves the problem of getting children to eat while the television is on.

Commissioners Will Record Tax Decisions

HAGERSTOWN, Oct. 4 (P)—The Washington County commissioners agreed today all their decisions on tax assessment appeals will be recorded in their formal minutes.

The step ended a short-lived effort to keep the decisions secret.

Commissioner Chester Delphey said there was some discussion about withholding the names of property owners involved.

"But it was not up to us to decide whether the names should be used," he said. "It will all be in the record. Then it is up to the newspapers to decide what they use."

Baltimorean Named Md. "Cop Of Year"

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4 (P)—A Baltimore policeman who drove a sick man's car more than 11 miles through a rainstorm has been named Maryland's "Cop of the Year."

The award from the Maryland Travel Council will go to Officer Edward Poist.

He will receive a week's vacation for two anywhere in Maryland as well as numerous other prizes, including free Maryland frying chickens each week for a year.

Poist was named from the list of Maryland's "Cops of the Weeks" named since March by the state tourist promotion organization.

Crew Parachutes Before B47 Crashes

GALVA, Kan., Oct. 4 (P)—The four man crew of a B47 jet bomber parachuted to safety today before the plane crashed and burned at the northeast edge of Galva.

Capt. James Harding, Ashland, Ky., an instructor-observer, was taken to a McPherson hospital with cuts and bruises but was released after treatment.

One crew member was quoted as saying the plane developed trouble soon after take-off. The ship was on fire when it crashed on a farm just outside of Galva.

Corn Meal, Flour Surplus Is Sought

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has notified Edward L. Vogelmann, supervisor of the donable foods program in Maryland, that it desires to obtain an allotment of flour and corn meal which is available from the federal government.

Based on a tentative guide for monthly distribution of the two commodities, the county has requested the following amounts: The first month—38,330 pounds of flour and 19,165 pounds of corn meal; second month—25,320 pounds of flour and 12,660 pounds of corn meal; third month—20,940 pounds of flour and 15,470 pounds of corn meal. This would make a total for the three months of 94,590 pounds of flour and 47,295 pounds of corn meal.

Eckhart School Razing Is Ordered

The old Eckhart school building, October 25, for the sale of the building. The successful bidder has been condemned by the Allegheny County Health Department and has been ordered razed by the county commissioners.

Sealed bids will be received by the commissioners at the Court House until 10:30 a. m. (EST), October 10, 1955, at the Lower Eckhart Light.

Bids Opened For Approach To Glass Plant

A local construction company was the low bidder by $63 in the half-million dollar approach road and bridge from Route 51 into the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant at North Branch.

Bids for this project and the overhead bridge on Route 135 at Bloomington were opened at noon yesterday by the State Roads Commission in Baltimore.

On the North Branch project, the bids went this way:

George F. Hazelwood Company, $507,564.52.

T. Edgy Russell, Frederick, $507,627.70.

Cumberland Contracting Company, $567,583.92.

The State Roads Commission also reported the bidding on the Bloomington bridge to be built over the B&O Railroad is as follows:

Case Construction Corporation, Mt. Airy, $157,224.

John D. Sheetz Construction Company, Inc., $189,191.40.

Cumberland Contracting Company, $177,694.55.

E. H. Nunn Company, Halthorpe, $184,819.28.

The North Branch approach roads total nearly one mile and the bridge across the B&O Railroad will have three spans and will be 214 feet long with a 28 feet wide roadway.

The major portion of its cost is being shared by the Allegany County taxpayers and the Federal government from its secondary roads aid fund.

The railroad is paying for 10 per cent of the cost of constructing the bridge.

At Bloomington, where Route 135 is being relocated, there will be a bridge 170 feet in length with a 35-foot roadway.

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the SRC, said this project and the relocation and remodeling of another two miles of Route 135 remain in the modernization program set up for that highway.

For success in a career—develop the ability to get along with others.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's an attribute that makes for success in every department of life—the ability to get along with others. It's even true that business places high value on it from a strictly dollars-and-cents point of view.

Personnel directors are well aware of the fact that more firings are necessary because of the discharged person's inability to get along with others than for any other reason. Reports from the records of many companies verify this again and again. Because the friction caused by one person can seriously hinder the smooth operation that leads to profit, good organization is well alerted to it, and will not tolerate it for long.

Harmony with those around us is certainly all-important to charm and a happy life, and it should be thought of in the specific terms of career success. If a friendly, considerate attitude is lacking, the shining goal remains too far away. With equal capacities, one person goes far and the other falls back, and the difference can be in the spirit with which each meets his co-workers every day.

Prepare for the prospect of a first job by improving your ability to be pleasant and cooperative. This can be done at home, at school, anywhere you may be. Or, if you strive toward the next step ahead in a career that's already begun, improve your chances by becoming a person with whom others enjoy working. (In either case, my booklet, "Your Steps to a Successful Career," will help. Send 10 cents, please, and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to me at this newspaper for your copy.)

The knowledge you require about your work may not be more valuable than the lessons you learn about living with those around you.

Tomorrow—Mr. Powers provides clues.

Lightning travels 20,000 miles a second.

Cab Company Gets Honors

The Astor Cab Company has been awarded the top honors in the accident prevention campaign of the National Taxicab Owners Association for cities of 25,000 to 50,000 population.

The award was announced at the association's annual convention being held this week in Philadelphia.

Fred W. Jenkins, president of the local cab company, reported that his firm's vehicles had no accident cases handled through the insurance company during the year ending July 1, 1955.

The firm has an employee-management safety incentive plan that has a fund built up to pay off all accidents costing $50 or less.

Cumberland Choral Society May Present Four Concerts

Charles I. Sager, director of the Cumberland Choral Society, announced the possibility of having a fourth program in the late spring.

At the business session, in conjunction with the weekly rehearsal, Mr. Sager said registration for joining the society will close next week, October 10. The society has over 70 members.

Group Plans Meetings

All four soloists for the Messiah will be from New York, one being Miss Betty Wilson, formerly from Frostburg. The Messiah will be presented December 5 in Allegany High School auditorium.

Mozart's Requiem will be sung sometime in February or March. While a third program will be given at Easter time. The Requiem will be the society's participation in the world celebration of the bicentennial of Mozart.

Earl W. Conn, 407 Washington Street, is attending the convention of the Insurance Division of the American Association of Railroad Convention being held at the Lora Baltimore Hotel, Baltimore.

Plans to hold monthly meetings in the various homes were formulated at the meeting of the Past Grand Regents Chapter of Court Cardinal Gibbons, Catholic Daughters of America, Monday evening.

Hostesses are to be taken alphabetically, with the first Mrs. Cecelia Albright. Each will select the date for her meeting. Mrs. Albright will be hostess November 17 at 7:30 at her home, Cecelia Street.

Transportation for members and the Past Grand Regents Association visit to Frostburg Saturday for the 35th anniversary banquet of the Mt. Savage Court Theresa, were discussed also.

Grace Baptist To Crown Irene Brown Queen Thurs.

For the second time since Grace Baptist Church was organized October 9, 1933, the Women's Missionary Society is crowning a "Queen."

The ceremony, which will be held at 7:30 tomorrow evening, marks the completion of the required WMS study course, knowledge of the entire personnel of the mission boards, and meeting attendance. The minimum time required to meet the requirements is four years.

Irene Brown is to be crowned queen. Sandra Muns will be promoted to princess; Margaret Brown and Anita Barnes, ladies-in-waiting; Patricia Trozzo, Paullette Ridenour, Joyce Royce, Frances Lee Shober, Betty Jo Martin and Sondra Simpson, maidens.

Mrs. Harry Reynolds, head of the Girls Auxiliary, will officiate at the coronation ceremony. Mrs. Clyde S. Runion is president of the Women's Missionary Society. October 12, 1944 Ruth Rahn and Arlene Will were crowned queens.

Chapter 15 To Entertain Families

Mountain Chapter 15, OES, will observe "Family Night" at the meeting October 12. The short business session is to be preceded by a covered dish supper at 6:30.

Children of members are to present a program following the business session and a games party and refreshments are to conclude the evening.

Members of the chapter will attend the morning worship service October 16 at First Methodist Church, West Main Street.

A caravan of 35 members of the Past Matrons and Past Patrons Association visited the chapter at its meeting recently at the Masonic temple, Frostburg. Mrs. Anna Bennett, worthy matron, and R. Edgar Bennett, worthy patron, presided.

Mrs. Myra Martin, Oakland, president of the association, and Donald Paulman, Cumberland, vice president, were presented a corsage and boutonniere respectively, as well as individual gifts to all the caravan. Officers of the chapter honored the guests at a special ceremony. A social hour concluded the evening and refreshments were served. Miss Mary Elizabeth Davis was chairman.

Dr. Dorothy Howard Is Honored By Mrs. J. G. Cook

Mrs. John G. Cook entertained with a travel party in honor of Dr. Dorothy G. Howard, at Anton's Big Savage Inn. Dr. Howard, of the English department of State Teachers College, Frostburg, spent last year as a Fulbright scholar in Australia.

Dr. Howard's schedule for study was play customs of Australian children. In her talk, she described Australia as a Pacific neighbor of goodwill.

She also said that penguins were native along the Melbourne shore. In accordance with the stipulations of a Fulbright scholar award, Dr. Howard served also as an ambassador of goodwill from the American people and she stated in her talk that she now was serving as an ambassador of goodwill from the Australian people. Her travelogue was concluded by the singing of an Australian folksong, "Botany Bay," to the accompaniment of a guitar.

Charles I. Sager of the Music department, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Bollino, instructor of piano, sang, "Pilgrims' Song," by Tschalkovsky and "The Hills of Home," Oscar Fox.

Carrying out the theme of Dr. Howard's talk, penguins designed by Schuler Briggs were used on each table. Dr. Laura B. Harney was in charge of floral arrangements and used low bowls of snapdragons, asters and ageratum, with miniature bouquets of zinnia and ageratum centering the tables.

The hostess was assisted in greeting guests by her daughters-in-law, Mrs. Albert C. Cook and Mrs. John W. Cook. Following the program dessert was served.

The guest list included women of the college faculty, wives of the faculty men and friends, of Frostburg and Cumberland.

Program Will Feature Sacred Heart Homecoming

A special program will be presented at the biennial Homecoming celebration of the Alumnae Association of Sacred Heart Hospital, Saturday.

Invitations have been sent to graduates since 1908 and registration of all classes will begin at 6 p. m., in the Bellevue Street nurses home. The Sisters of Charity and Ladies Auxiliary of the hospital will entertain the graduates at a buffet supper at 6:30.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lovett, president of the association, is to extend the welcome and introduce Sisteen Angela, hospital administrator, and Sister Cecelia, new director of nurses. Each will give a short talk. An invocation will be offered by Miss Mary Margaret King and the Glee Club of the Sacred Heart Hospital School of Nursing, under the direction of Mrs. Richard W. Trevasik Sr., will sing the Alma Mater and several selections.

A hospital skit, "The Ladies

Auxiliary of Pottstown," will be given by Miss Angela Lupis, class of 1955; and a poem, "The Nurse," by Edgar Guest, will be recited by Miss Jane Iliff, class of 1954. Closing the program the entire group is to sing the school song.

A social hour will be held following the program, when there will be time for any class reunions.

Miss Margaret Lynch is Program chairman, assisted by Miss Christine J. Williams and Miss King. Miss Ursula Drole is Social chairman.

Mrs. Glenn Diehl, 610 Louisiana Avenue, is improving in County Memorial Hospital, Bedford, Pa., following an auto accident.

Steels And Motors Strong As Market Rushes Ahead

NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (AP) — The help from aircrafts, a few rails stock market rushed ahead today and some scattered individual issues in a spirited recovery movement, and then took time out while Brooklyn won the World Series.

For instance, trading in the fifth hour was only 27 per cent as great as in the first hour. That's a good indication of where the customers' attention was centered.

Prices were ahead 1 to 3 points generally with some gains going to 5 points. There were quite a few losses, but none was large. Most of the strength was in steels and motors, which had some

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 50 cents at $170.00. The average now stands only 10 cents under the low reached in the drastic break a week ago when $11.40 was lost. Yesterday's second reaction since the news of the President's heart attack reached Wall Street cut away $3.80 from the average.

Volume amounted to 2,020,000 shares, lowest in 10 months. Most of the strength was in steels and motors, which had some

Four Bids Are Received On Market Street Bridge

Four bids were submitted to the Mayor and Council yesterday on the new Market Street bridge.

A fifth bid was not accepted because it arrived 10 minutes late.

Bids submitted were based on two plans designated Alternate "A" and Alternate "B." Under "A" work would start after March 5 of next year and under "B" would get under way in November with the contractor working through the winter.

Submitting bids were: H. D. Case, Inc., Mt. Airy, Md.—Alternate "A," $169,913; Alternate "B," $176,963.

David Goldberg, Uniontown, Pa.—Alternate "A," $189,069; Alternate "B," $186,069.

George Yang, Inc., Pittsburgh—Alternate "A," $229,897; Alternate "B," $241,897.

S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, this city—Alternate "A," $193,599.73; Alternate "B," $203,599.75.

Plus Engineering Costs
City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said cost of the span would be determined by the low bid plus 15 per cent for engineering contingencies.

Bids were referred to Street Commissioner William H. Buch-holz, City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson and Nuzum.

Brotemarkle was the contractor on the first of three new bridges being constructed in connection with the flood control program. The first was Valley Street with the Baltimore Street Span yet to come.

The Vang concern, formerly of Cumberland, built the old Market Street bridge which is to be replaced.

It was considered unlikely that any error of consequence would be found in the bid tabulations. In that case, it appears the Case company has submitted the low bid on both the "A" and "B" plans.

Adding 15 per cent for engineering contingencies would bring the "A" plan to $195,339 and the "B" to $203,509.75.

Estimated cost of the structure has been set at $233,000.

Refuse George Bid

Council, on advice of City Attorney Thomas B. Finan, went according to the law in refusing to accept the bid of the George Construction Company.

The George bid arrived 10 minutes past the deadline (9:30 a. m. EST) because C. E. George said he had been held up by shifter engines on the railroad.

Finan said in view of the fact George is a local concern and "as much as we would like to accept the bid, we cannot ignore the law."

After the bids were opened, George said under circumstances he would withdraw his bid.

Mayor Roy W. Eves told George he hoped "for your peace of mind that your bid was high."

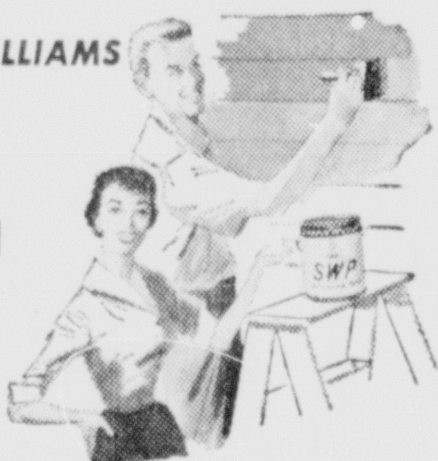

George replied: "I'm not going to tell you."

Congress demobilized the first American army in 1783.

Farmer Use Of Grain Set By Co-Op Here

With the view of assisting farmers to use the grains they grow for stock feeding purposes the Southern States Cumberland Co-operative has moved into new and larger quarters at the end of North Mechanic Street.

The building, 50 feet by 136 feet, in addition to farm and home commodities, houses the modern feed mixing and milling equipment.

Grayson Solomon, manager, explained the grinding mill also can be used to mix molasses in with the feed as it is ground.

In the past, farmers of this section would grow their grains, sell the crops and then buy dairy feed and other meal and mixes for livestock and chickens, Solomon said.

Due to an economic squeeze of the past three years, when the cost of living has increased and the price they receive for their commodities has dropped, the farmers have been forced to use their own grains for feed, the manager said.

These can be utilized by adding protein to give them the required nutritional content, he added.

The nearest mills of this kind are in Bedford to the north and Moorefield to the south, he added.

The cooperative also furnishes agricultural equipment and supplies home and farm home needs, Solomon added.

The new building was constructed and the mixing mill installed for approximately $60,000, the manager added.

There are more than 1,000 languages and dialects spoken in North and South America, more than 900 languages used in Asia and approximately 600 in Europe.

Delegates To Attend Area Scout Meeting

Potomac Council, Boy Scouts, will be well represented at a Region 3 annual meeting Friday and Saturday in the William Penn Hotel, Pittsburgh.

Heading the delegation will be James C. Warden, this city, council president, and Dr. Thomas W. Bess, Keyser, veteran Potomac Council official who is a member of the executive council of Region 3. They will be accompanied by their wives.

Others who will attend are Henry H. Lowery, LaVale, Cumberland District chairman, and Mrs. Lowery; Herbert C. Heineman, Cresaptown, council executive board member, and Mrs. Heineman; Miles G. Thompson, LaVale, council executive board member and Mrs. Thompson, and Willis V. Smith, LaVale, council executive, and Mrs. Smith.

Parent Group To Meet Oct. 14

A parent group discussion will be held under sponsorship of the State Department of Education and the pupil personnel department of the Allegany County School system at Beall Elementary School on October 14, according to Homer S. Higgins, supervisor of pupil personnel here.

Higgins said the event will be open to all parents in the county who wish to attend. The program will open at 10 a. m. with a consultant from the Child Study Institute of the University of Maryland describing some of the newer scientific findings.

County Will Buy Auto For Investigator

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has ordered an advertisement for sealed bids on a new two-door de luxe sedan of the medium price range for use by the county investigator.

Bids will be opened on Friday, October 21 at 10:30 a. m. (EST) and the offer must include the amount on a 1952 sedan now in use.

Inheritance Tax Law Study Is Recommended

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4 (AP)—A committee of the Legislative Council suggested today that the registers of wills of the counties and Baltimore City get together to draw up proposed changes in Maryland's inheritance tax laws.

This suggestion came after a suggestion to change the Maryland law to conform with the federal statutes in determining value of interest in inheritance of less than absolute value, did the Judiciary committee vote. It recommended passage of the proposed change.

Such matters as how to define ownership of tangible personal property claimed to be held by estates (jointly as by husband and wife) and the matter of exempting gifts for charitable institutions were discussed.

Also under survey were the matters of transferring property of a deceased person on the tax books and how to determine valuation of personal property in a will.

David Kaufman of the attorney general's office was principal speaker at the hearing, but said his office was reluctant to suggest the changes.

The committee, headed by Sen. Malkus (D-Dorchester), suggested Kaufman might help the registers of wills in drawing up proposals. Harry Newcomer, Washington County register of wills, and Agnes McAllister, Dorchester County register of wills, participated in the discussions.

Newcomer said that the broad definitions of certain articles in the inheritance tax laws are causing the State to lose many thousands of dollars annually.

The committee readily agreed this should be looked into.

Earlier today, the council committee visited the Maryland Hall of Records and renewed a legislative demand that the Maryland Manual be sold to the public by the secretary of state.

Dr. Morris Radoff, State archivist, said it currently costs the State $9,000 to publish 4,300 copies and he is among those favoring its general sale to the public.

A bill to accomplish this was passed by the 1955 Legislature but vetoed by Gov. McKeldin on grounds it would entail needless work and expense by the secretary's office.

Choir Elects

Mrs. Margaret Bittner was elected president of the sanctuary choir of St. John's Lutheran Church. Other officers are Miss Barbara Reuschel, secretary; William Gilpin, treasurer; and Mrs. Alma Wilt, librarian.

Secretaries are Mrs. Mary Squires, vestments; Fred Eichner, property; and Mrs. Shirley McCullough, historian.

Get-Acquainted Program Set On PSC Campus

Freshmen and all other newcomers to the Potomac State College campus in Keyser will have an opportunity today to acquaint themselves with campus organizations starting at 11 a. m. At this time the annual "Know Your Organizations", convocation will be held in the auditorium under Honor Society sponsorship.

Presidents of all campus groups will have an opportunity to acquaint the freshmen fully concerning activities.

Another campus activity today is the annual student-faculty reception for new students. It will be held at 8:30 o'clock tonight, according to Dr. Nancy Miller, general chairman, and Miss Helen Criner, co-chairman.

Students will register in Reynolds Hall and greetings from the faculty will be extended in Science Hall.

Mrs. Yeager's Will Admitted To Probate

The will of Mrs. Susan Lambie Yeager, who died September 26 at the age of 91, was admitted to probate yesterday in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One of the five sons of Mrs. Yeager, George Yeager, 212 Ridgewood Road, Baltimore, qualified as executor of the estate under a $500 bond.

One provision of the will calls for the sale of all of her real property with the proceeds to be divided among her six children equally. They are John R. Yeager, Louis F. Yeager, Harry H. Yeager, Joseph W. Yeager, Margaret Yeager Hansel and George H. Yeager.

Two grandsons, Roy Earnest Yeager and Frank P. Herrman Jr. and a granddaughter, Ruth Hilda Herrman, were bequeathed $200 each. George H. Yeager was left her silverware and Margaret Yeager Hansel clothing and jewelry. All household furniture is to be divided equally among the six children.

The will of Mrs. Yeager, who lived at 336 Avirett Avenue, was dated April 19, 1948.

Baltimorean Jailed On Bad Check Charge

Roy E. Rhodes, about 30, of Baltimore, was placed in County Jail yesterday by Constable Roy Van Fleet on a charge of passing a $20 fraudulent check at an Oldtown Road business place.

The worthless check was drawn in August on the Peoples National Bank and Trust Company, Langhorne, Pa.

County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya said he still is investigating several other complaints against Rhodes. He is accused of having passed other worthless checks. Rhodes was arrested here several years ago on a similar charge.

Grand Jury Will Resume Probe Today

The grand jury for the October term of Allegany County Circuit Court will resume its probe into lawlessness for a third day starting at 9:15 a. m. today.

Chief Judge George Henderson excused the 23 men and women on the grand jury at 3:30 p. m. yesterday until 9:15 a. m. today. During the day they heard more than 20 witnesses and returned several indictments which have not yet been placed on the court's open docket.

Telephone Company Plans Open House

Open house will be held at the telephone building here tomorrow and Friday nights, from 7 to 9:30 p. m.

Members of the central office staff will be on hand to show customers Cumberland's new dial center. A number of special exhibits have been planned for the open house, according to cards mailed to subscribers.

Court Refuses To Order B&O To Run Buses

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 4 (AP)—The State Supreme Court, taking the view that it would be ordering something that already had been accomplished, refused today to order the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to resume bus service in West Virginia.

The unanimous decision came in a suit by Amanda Gerwig of Braxton County, who said she acted on behalf of herself and other residents of the territory formerly served by the West Virginia Transportation Co.

West Virginia Transportation, which has gone out of business, was a wholly owned B. and O. subsidiary. The suit asked the court to compel the B. and O. to "re-institute, maintain and operate reasonable bus service."

Judge Leslie E. Given wrote the Supreme Court opinion.

The court noted that Atlantic Greyhound, the Greyhound Corp., and the Maryland and West Virginia Co. now provide bus service on all the routes formerly served by West Virginia Transportation, "except as to certain routes discontinued under authority of the Public Service Commission."

That being the case, Judge Given wrote, "there is nothing further of which petitioner can complain in this proceeding."

Future Of Non-Skeds Is Up For Decision

The Civil Aeronautics Board tomorrow re-opens hearings on the qualifications of non-scheduled airlines to conduct various operations. The hearings, opened in September 1952, were in almost continuous session until suspended in January 1954. Up to that time, testimony and evidence had been adduced for 30 specific applicants.

Another 30 airlines will be represented in the new series of hearings. Fifteen "non-skeds" will present their case in Washington, six in Los Angeles, nine in Seattle.

Hearings had been suspended in January 1954 to give the CAB time to resolve policy questions about "the requirements of the public interest and the public convenience and necessity" — in other words, to decide the proper role of the "non-skeds" in commercial aviation. CAB examiners in the broad policy area issued a preliminary "decision" on March 29 last.

The examiners recommended that some "non-skeds" be allowed to continue charter and special-service operations, and that the CAB consider issuing additional certificates for regular service to large carriers. But they advised that by and large the "non-skeds" should be kept out of the air coach (or tourist) traffic, even though recognizing that the "non-skeds" had pioneered in developing this type of business. Air coach travel in 1954 represented nearly 33 per cent of the business of the scheduled lines.

As for air travel in general, the boom is on, according to the Civil Aeronautics Administration. A CAA estimate of September 14 credited the air lines with 29 per cent of the whole passenger travel market. In another 10 years, the CAA predicted, more than half of all commercial travel would be by air.

Milling Around

Ten years after the nominal end of World War II, the human race continues to mill around so-called post-war problems. There seems no end to them. Just now, the United States and Great Britain are telling Egypt where not to obtain arms, the Egyptians intending to use the supplies to fight Israel which will raise some more problems. Pakistan is flirting with the Kremlin after the United States aided that Moslem country. France is thinking up new formulae for world peace and East Germany is seeking a recognition which remains unavailable.

It was hoped 10 years ago that some kind of European union might be formed. That was a period of enthusiastic One Worldism. The United States has, since World War II, been enthusiastic about a European union and the Marshall Plan was designed to promote this objective. The Economic Cooperation Act of 1948 and the Mutual Defense Assistance Act of 1949, leading to the European Defense Community within the scope of NATO, looked forward to some form of European Union. But no United States of Europe has appeared.

Professor Arthur N. Holcombe of Harvard, wrote of this:

"This was a bold undertaking. Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, Italians, and others, whom Americans are too prone to call Europeans without adequate evidence that such is in fact their proper political classification, were quick to point out what seemed to them the fallacy of the simple and naive belief that, because a few isolated American states were able to form a useful and durable federal union a century and a half ago, it would be feasible to repeat the performance in modern Europe. Important advantages possessed by 18th-century Americans could not be expected to recur in 20th-century Europe . . ."

Of course, we find Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, Italians and persons of 30 or more national origins living in this country as Americans. It is true that in recent years, particularly since World War II, primitive sentimentalisms over countries of remote origin flare up even here. For example, Americans of Greek origin, who have never seen Greece and who have so Anglicized their names that their Greek origins are not readily recognizable, become excited over the current international quarrel over Cyprus, just as most American Jews, whose ancestors have not been in Israel since 70 A.D. are sure that all Arabs are wicked people and that Israel has made no errors. Similarly, some Americans of Russian origin hope that the Communists will be overthrown so that Russia may again be regarded as a respectable nation.

The idea of a United States of Europe is a good one not only for the Europeans but for the world. It would lessen the prospects of war and would set up a bulwark of Christian civilization against Marxism out of the Kremlin. But the prospects remain remote because nationalism overpowers all other considerations, including economic realism.

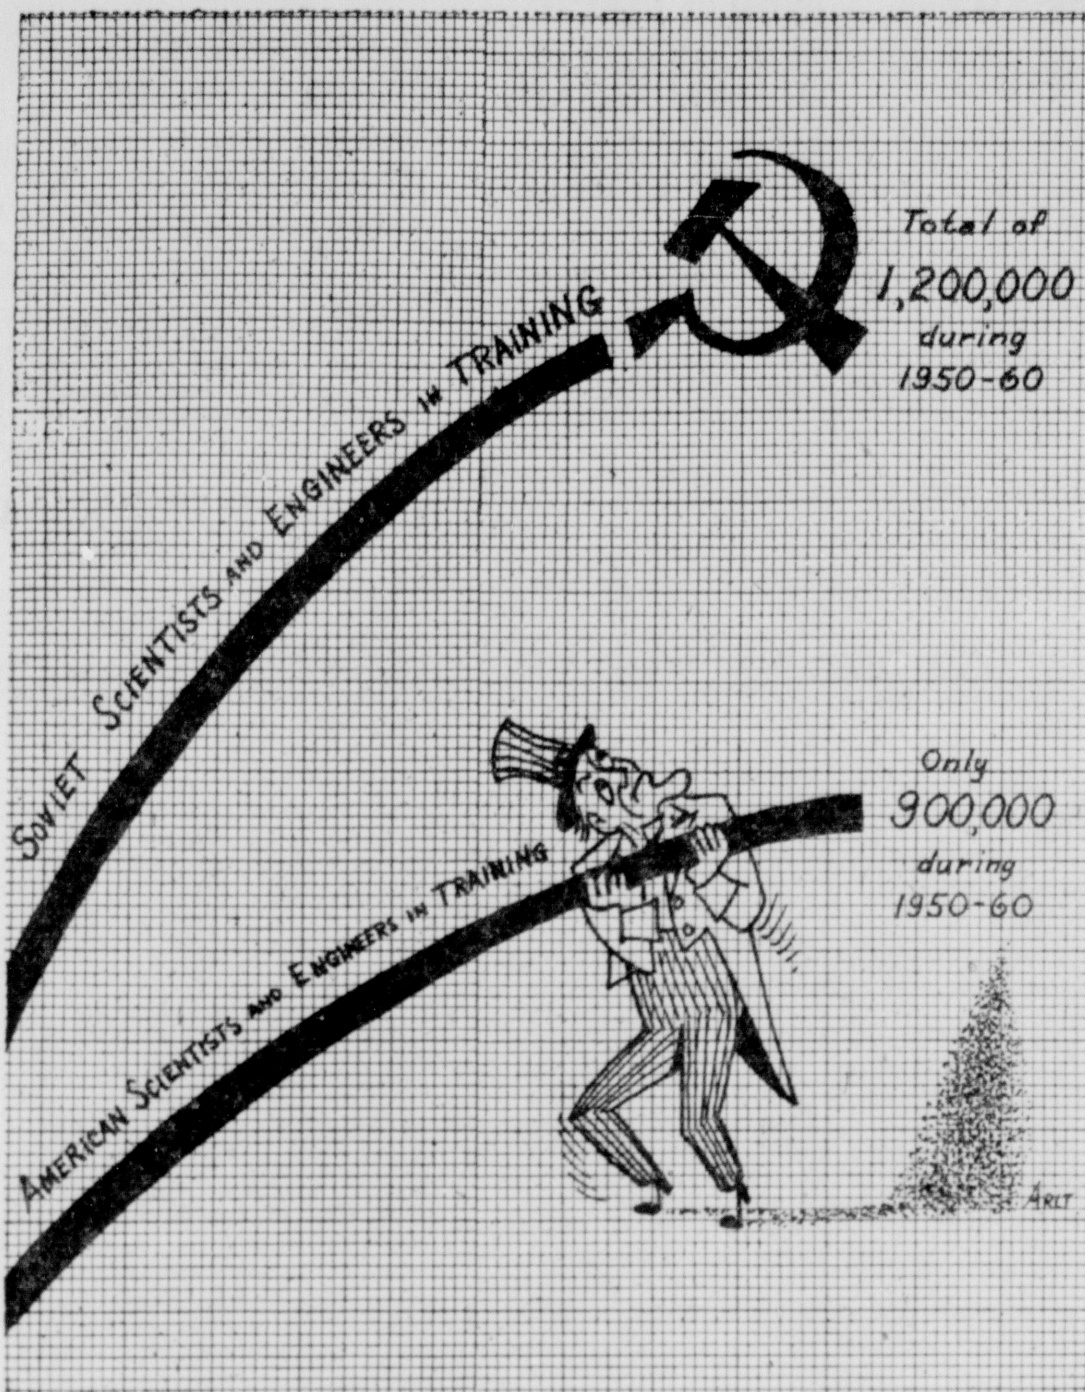

Most European countries resent being squeezed between the two non-European giants, the United States and Soviet Russia, but none of them will make the sacrifices necessary to form a European state of sufficient manpower and resources to stand up to Soviet Russia and the United States. It is reasonable to assume that a union of France, Germany, and the Benelux countries could be brought into existence through economic necessity, but there is no real evidence that such a union is in the making. If Great Britain, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Greece and Turkey were included in such a state, it would really be powerful.

But Great Britain has, for three centuries, been moving away from Europe. Its commitments are worldwide and its concentration, even to this day, is more on Asia and Africa than on its European neighbors. Taken all together, the British Commonwealth is as non-European as Soviet Russia and the United States. Without Great Britain, a European union does not seem possible.

Soviet Russia stimulates nationalism in all European countries as a counter-move against the prospect of a European union which could only serve to lessen Kremlin influence. Nationalism, of itself, is not an antidote for Europe's ills because it only keeps the pot of political offal boiling. While it stimulates pride in race and culture, it does not solve any of the economic and political problems of the time, the most serious of which, for a European, is how to avoid being gobbled up by Soviet Russia.

Facing Up To The Facts

Wrong Reasoning Used In Granting Commission

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — Merchant Seaman Eugene W. Landy has rightly been granted an ensign's commission by Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas, but for the wrong reasons.

The issue never was whether Landy did or did not have close or sympathetic associations with his mother, who had once joined a Communist organization. The President's executive order and the directive of the secretary of defense do not require that a government employee be fired because he has a relative who is connected with or sympathetic with a subversive organization like the Communist party.

What the rules established by the President for the executive branch of the government do require is that security boards shall determine whether or not an individual who has close associations with any Communist or Communist organization is himself susceptible to pressure or coercion or blackmail.

Could Be Blackmail Subject

Thus, it was just as wrong for the Coast Guard to say, as it did in a recent case, that a certain individual did not happen to be close to his mother as it was for Secretary Thomas to argue that Landy, even though close to his parent, was not influenced by her.

The simple fact is that, when the parent is inside the United States, the only influence that can be exerted is not on the relative of the government employee but on the employee himself. If, for example, there is something not publicly known about the background of a parent and there is danger that this might be revealed, the individual whose security status is being investigated might some day be in a position of being subjected to blackmail.

Likewise, government security boards are required to take a look at the possible situations that might arise in the case of an individual who has relatives behind the iron curtain. Could these relatives be threatened with torture and even death if the individual in the American armed forces didn't disclose information to enemy agents?

The real test, therefore, is how much character and stamina the individual has. Would Wolf Ladejinsky, for instance—who has relatives behind the iron curtain—stand up under coercion? Would Landy be influenced by any attempt to blackmail him?

More Cases Likely

The answers in both cases, after a study of both men, should have been in their favor. But as long as the rules provide that the security boards must take a look at all the facts and circumstances to determine whether an individual can be subjected to blackmail and pressure, this type of case will arise.

An entirely different problem arises in cases involving homosexuality. Again and again individuals have resigned or been forced out of the government service because of a record of homosexuality, other sex deviations or alcoholism. Lots of people are indignant about this and say a man should simply be fired for "unsuitability" if anything like that appears in his record and not put on the list of persons "fired for security reasons." Thus, judging by comments made in the hearings by the staff of the Senate Subcommittee on Civil Service investigating security cases, there is an apparent naivete on the subject of "unsuitability." It is argued there, for instance,

Iron Requirements In Children And Adults Vary

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Iron is so important to health and well being, the body handles it conservatively. The amounts absorbed and lost through the body each day are exceedingly small, in the normal individual. Over the years most of us build up an iron reserve to carry us through the lean years.

Should iron deficiency anemia develop, the physician suspects blood loss, faulty absorption of the mineral, or an inadequate diet over a prolonged period. Anemia seldom leads to symptoms unless the red blood cells or the hemoglobin is extremely low. The victim then becomes pale, listless, and weak and may encounter numbness and tingling of the hands and feet.

If anemia is more severe, the mouth and tongue become sore and the nails ridged and brittle. The heart pounds and shortness of breath occurs on exertion. This is understandable because iron is essential for the production of hemoglobin, which carries oxygen to various parts of the body.

Iron deficiency anemia affects all ages but favors women and infants. Most of these babies receive a poor supply of iron from an anemic mother. Furthermore, milk is almost devoid of iron and the tykes are not likely to improve unless a supplementary source is obtained. This is why the early introduction of iron-rich foods such as strained meat, cereals, and certain fruits and vegetables has been helpful.

By the time the child reaches age six the iron requirements per year decline from 200 to 80 mg. Thereafter the requirements increase gradually until at puberty, they reach 350 mg. in the male and 500 mg. in the female. The annual requirements of the male sex do not increase thereafter unless bleeding occurs as a result of varicose veins, ulcer, parasites, cancer, or hemorrhoids.

But the female is not so fortunate. She loses 300 mg. every year through the menses. Furthermore, the pregnant woman passes on to her baby approximately 375 mg. This means women must maintain a higher iron intake during the childbearing years. The prevalence of iron deficiency anemia in women also may be because they eat less than men do.

The high school or college girl who wants to remain slim is a good candidate. The same can be said

Relations With Egypt, Arab States Worse Than Appears On Surface

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Relations with Egypt and the Arab states are even worse than appears on the surface. Here are the latest developments:

1. The expulsion of the American air attaché, Col. Gilbert E. Erb, under circumstances that indicate Egypt has a dangerous chip-on-the-shoulder attitude.

Colonel Erb had remarked merely in private conversations that he thought the Israelis had probably shot down two Egyptian planes instead of their having crashed in the air, as the Egyptians claimed. The Egyptians had explained that the two planes bumped into each other and crashed. The Israelis claimed they shot them down. Because Colonel Erb remarked that it was unlikely the two planes bumped into each other and indicated the Israelis were trigger happy anyway and probably shot down the two planes, he was declared persona non grata and asked to leave Egypt.

2. George V. Allen, the Dulles special envoy, carries a much sterner warning for the Egyptians than has been indicated. He was instructed by Secretary of State Dulles to tell Premier Nasser that the powerful Israeli army is all set to start attacking the minute Communist arms are delivered. The Israelis have the force to take Cairo in a short time.

3. A proposal to dump the huge U. S. cotton surplus on the world as an economic reprisal against Egyptian cotton is gaining support. Southern congressmen have been urging this on Secretary of Agriculture Benson for some time, not as a move against Egypt, but in order to get rid of the cotton surplus.

Now that Egypt is determined to buy Communist arms, the proposal has new advocates.

4. The former executive director of the Republican National Committee, Douglas Whitlock, has become top lobbyist for the Arab League in Washington.

While this has had no effect on the international situation it hasn't particularly helped the domestic political situation, since Whitlock continues to be high-up in Republican circles. He was the chief organizer of Eisenhower's campaign train during the 1952 campaign and as recently as last month addressed the Republican state committee here at the special Len Hall "school" to prepare for the '56 campaign.

NOTE—On the agricultural front, Congressman Jamie Whitten of Mississippi has just finished a barbed report attacking the administration for not selling its surplus cotton. Though Secretary Benson proposed, in various cabinet sessions, that the cotton be sold abroad, the State Department, reinforced by the secretary of the treasury, argued against "dumping" on the ground that it would upset our relations with Egypt and other cotton-growing nations.

Now that our relations are already upset, and Egypt has proceeded to barter cotton for Communist arms, the cotton-bloc congressmen see no further reason for holding our huge supply of cotton off the market at tremendous cost to ourselves.

It hasn't been announced, but the Army has made a huge land-semi-political deal with the State of Louisiana. It will reopen Camp Polk, La., on a permanent basis, and in return, Louisiana's Gov. Robert Kennon has promised to provide the Army with 7,000,000 acres for its gigantic forthcoming maneuvers, "Operation Sagebrush."

The deal was arranged by Maj. Gen. Raymond Fleming, former National Guard bureau chief and now Louisiana's adjutant general. It took place after Texas citizens refused to grant the Army "maneuver permits" to play its war games in Texas.

The story goes back to "Operation Longhorn," which was staged in Texas in 1951. The Army fought mock battles over Texas farms and ranch land, trampling down thousands of dollars' worth of crops. Afterward, Army appraisers toured the "battlefields" to assess the damage. Being economy minded, they underestimated the damage. Then the General Accounting Office ordered all claims reduced in half as another economy measure.

In the end, Texans got reimbursed for only a fraction of the damage done to their land and crops. When the Army came around for "maneuver permits" for "Operation Bluebolt" in 1954, the Texans remembered how they had been short-changed and turned the Army down. As a result, "Operation Bluebolt" was never held, except in limited form at Fort Hood, Texas.

Now, "Operation Bluebolt" will be combined in the gigantic new maneuvers, "Operation Sagebrush." Since the Army couldn't get "maneuver permits" to stage the war games in Texas, however, the generals had to look elsewhere for their battleground.

At this point, General Fleming offered to get "maneuver permits" for 7,000,000 acres in Louisiana if the Army would make a permanent base of Camp Polk. The Army sent Governor Kennon a private telegram, agreeing to this unique deal. At latest reports, 6,000,000 acres of the maneuver grounds have been signed up.

The Cause Of Liberty

By Bob Considine

Editor's Note: This is National Newspaper Week, and here a famed columnist and reporter illustrates the theme of this year's observance: "Your Newspaper — Fights for Your Right to Know."

NEW YORK — (INS) — American newspapers have been telling the people what their government has been up to from the Boston Tea Party to Teapot Dome, to the party in today's edition. They have thrown light on shrouded rascals as separated in time and importance as George III, Boss Tweed and mink coated influence peddlers.

They are not in the detective business, though reporters have solved countless crimes that baffled police authorities up to and including the FBI. They are not the appointed guardians of the public's morals, but millions look to them for guidance on myriad matters. Their basic purpose for existing is to dispense truthful information.

In many areas on earth it is against the law (or the might that passes for law) to circulate the truth. That used to be the way things were here, too, astonishing as that may be to believe.

Press Not Always Free

The colonial press did not begin to be free until John Peter Zenger's New York Weekly Journal collided with the autocratic administration of his majesty's governor William Cosby. That was 1734. German immigrant Zenger was freshly arrived in the province. He set up a print shop and began issuing the Journal, a paper that wouldn't follow the supine line of most of the colonial press. Zenger must have had the courage of a lion. To back it up he received the support of three substantial sources of inside news: an unfairly ousted chief justice of New York, Lewis Morris, and two responsible attorneys named William Smith and James Alexander.

The powder was soon being shaken out of Cosby's wig. He ordered copies of the "dangerous" Journal burned. When that didn't stop Zenger he threw the man in jail for 10 months. Zenger smuggled pieces about conditions there and his wife, running the Journal in his absence, courageously printed them.

Zenger's historic trial began in April 1735. Alexander and Smith, his attorneys in court, were promptly disbarred when they pointed out several clear-cut cases of bias on the part of the judges. Old Andrew Hamilton, a Philadelphia lawyer, took over the case—which turned into a momentous battle against the prevalent law of "the greater truth the greater the libel."

Mr. Chief Justice, quoting the law, intoned: "It is far from being a justification of a libel that the contents thereof are true, or that the person upon whom it is made had a bad reputation, since the greater appearance there is for truth in any malicious invective so much the more provoking it is."

"Star chamber!" cried Hamilton, kept battling, and in his summation to the jury spelled out a stirring new charter for freedom of the press.

Cause Of Liberty

"... And therefore I cannot but think it mine and every honest man's duty that (while we pay all due obedience to men in authority) we ought at the same time to be on our guard against power, wherever we apprehend that it may affect ourselves or our fellow subjects."

"... I should think it my duty, if required, to go to the utmost part of the land where my service could be of any use in assisting to quench the flame of prosecutions upon informations, set on foot by the government, to deprive a people of the right of remonstrating (and complaining too) of the arbitrary attempts of men in power."

"Men who injure and oppress the people under their administration provoke them to cry out and complain: And then make that very complaint the foundation for new oppressions and prosecutions."

The question before the jury was not the cause of a private concern or that of a poor printer, Hamilton, pleaded.

"No!" he thundered. "It may in its consequence affect every free man that lives under a British government on the Main of America. It is the best cause. It is the cause of liberty . . ."

"Every man who prefers freedom to a life of slavery will bless and honor you as men who have baffled the attempt of tyranny, and have laid a noble foundation for securing to ourselves, our posterity and our neighbors that to which nature and the laws of our country have given us a right—the liberty of exposing and opposing arbitrary power (in these parts of the world, at least) by speaking and writing truth."

Let Zenger's own account finish this salute to National Newspaper Week:

"The jury withdrew, and in a small time returned, and being asked by the clerk whether they were agreed of their verdict, and whether John Peter Zenger was guilty of printing and publishing the libels, they answered by Thomas Hunt, their foreman: Not guilty. Upon which there were three hurrahs in the hall, which was crowded with people, and the next day I was discharged from my imprisonment."

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

Twenty-one hundred editors and publishers will remember the luncheon at which I introduced Dr. Gainza Paz of the Argentine.

He got a greater standing ovation than a gentleman who gave his seat to an old lady.

Peron had given Dr. Paz the dictatorial accolade of enchanting distance. And confiscated La Prensa, one of the world's great newspapers.

I assured Dr. Paz that Peron would go the way of all flesh, rare, medium or welldone. And he would get his paper back.

That took ten years but I'm one Delphic Oracle that guarantees its hiccups. This time Peron pazzes.

Almost same incident happened when Comrado Massagueur lost his magnificent color printing plant in Havana during a revolution.

Comrado's friends finally upended the tyrant. But in their patriotic spasms they wrecked their pal's printing presses. Viva la anybody.

Maryland Again Is Tops In AP Football Ratings

Michigan Is Solid Second Place Choice

[By The Associated Press] Maryland, well out in front in the national football ratings after only three games, faces a real battle from here on. It isn't the battle to win games that troubles Jim Tatum's Terrapins, but one to avoid being forgotten.

The Terps have finished the toughest part of their schedule—Missouri, UCLA and Baylor—in a gratifying fashion. From now on they'll play mostly in their own Atlantic Coast Conference with two outside games that apparently don't pose any serious problems.

Penalty Kick Gives Knights Second Win

Beall	0	1	1

A penalty kick by Butch Young with 1:05 remaining in the game gave Valley High's Black Knights a 2-1 victory over Bruce High's booters yesterday at Barton for the defending champions' second straight win in the Western Maryland Interscholastic Soccer League.

The loss was the first for Bruce, who this year have a new coach in Leonard Ritchie.

Coach Johnny Meyers' Knights took the lead in the second period when Jack Mongold pushed in a head shot after taking a pass from Bob "Cokie" Robertson. Bruce tied the score when Gene Dawson passed to Frank Welsh who booted home the goal in the third stanza.

Outstanding for Valley were Bill Moffatt, Young, Robertson and Mongold while Bruce's best bet was Dawson, Bob Kertesz, and Frank Welsh.

In a second WMI tilt at Frostburg Mt. Savage's Braves and Beall High's Mountaineers battled to a 1-1 deadlock. It was the second clash for both elevens who lost their openers last Friday.

Bill Clauson, who earlier had missed a penalty kick in the second period, converted one in the third quarter to gain the deadlock for Mt. Savage.

Beall took the lead when Gary Harbel booted home a 54-yard free kick for a field goal in the first period.

Best for Beall were Harbel, Lou Llewellyn, Don Fleigle, Neil Swaine and Pat Fram. Outstanding for Mt. Savage were Roy Hott, Clauson and Bill Burkett. The lineups:

Ft. Hill JV's Beat LaSalle For 3rd Victory

Roy Scores Both TDs In 13-0 Win

Coach Joe Pellerzi's Fort Hill Jayvees racked up their third straight win by turning back their intra-city rivals, the LaSalle High Jayvees, yesterday at Fort Hill. The score was 13-0.

Thurl Roy, Fort Hill halfback, scored both touchdowns for the winners and added the extra point by taking a pass from fullback Mike McCullough. The tallies came in the third and fourth quarters after a scoreless first half.

Saturday the Little Sentinels defeated Circleville High's varsity eleven at Circleville, 25-12. Roy tallied two touchdowns in that fracas while Bob Appel and Weltman each scored once. McCullough kicked the only extra point for the winners. Weltman's six - pointer came on an 80-yard run.

Both teams had a kick blocked in yesterday's fray. The lineups:

Capital Bowling Scores 4th Win

Capital Bowling scored its fourth straight win in the Men's Touch Football League by edging the Hurricanes 7-6 in overtime while the VFW registered its first win, also in overtime, 7-6 over Bill's Amoco. Both games were played at Penn Avenue field.

Abe scored capital's only touchdown on a 27-yard run in the first quarter. Hurricanes tied it in the fourth stanza on a 36-yard pass from Pettigrew to Taylor. Capital won the game by gaining more yardage in an overtime stanza.

The Vets took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter against Bill's on a 17-yard pass from Pence to Bender. Bill's tied it in the second quarter on Bittner's 13-yard toss to Payton. The Vets then won their first victory in the overtime period by moving the ball for greater yardage than Bill's. The scores:

VFW 7 6 0 0-13
BILLS 0 0 0 0-6
Touchdowns: VFW — Bender, Bill's — Payton.

CAPITAL BOWLING 6 0 0 0-13

Felons Hear Series

OSSINING, N. Y., Oct. 4 (AP) — The 1,706 inmates of Sing Sing Prison got the afternoon off from their shop work today to listen to the final game of the World Series. Prison schools also were closed.

HAPPY DODGERS MOB PODRES — Hilariously happy Brooklyn Dodgers teammates mob winning pitcher Johnny Podres moments after the final out was made in the ninth inning of yesterday's seventh World Series game at Yankee Stadium. Podres' southpaw slants baffled the Yankees into submission to give the Dodgers their first World Series triumph in history. Brooklyn beat the New York Yankees, 2-0, in the deciding game of the 1955 series after missing in seven other series attempts. (AP Photofax)

AHS Jayvees Beat Beall In Opener

Stewart Scores 3 TDs In 19-6 Win

FROSTBURG, Oct. 4 — Allegany High's Jayvees opened their football campaign here today with a 19-6 victory over the Beall Junior Varsity.

Ernie Stewart, substitute halfback, scampered 40, 35 and 10 yards for all three Little Campers touchdowns and Gary Shook added the extra point on an end run after the first score.

Coach Jack Gable used 23 players in registering the first win since he took over the helm of the Allegany JVs this year.

Joe Hunt, an alumnus of Beall, has been coaching the Little Mountaineers who have scheduled about eight games for this year.

Beall ruined Allegany's shutout bid when Quarterback Groves plunged over for the Frostburgers' six-pointer in the fourth stanza from the one-foot line. The lineups:

Pos.	Allegany (19)	Beall (6)

Culmone Aboard Feature Winner At Atlantic City

Resilient Is Victor Over War Of Roses

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 4 (AP) — Jockey Joe Culmone did the booting and Killian Farms' Resilient did the running and the result was a half length victory over Mrs. J. R. H. Thouron's War Of Roses in today's featured race. Third in the field of 11 going a mile and one sixteenth was Willowbrook Farm's Bad Conduct.

Resilient was completely overlooked by the crowd of 10,640 and returned $40.80, $13.40, $6. War Of Roses, the choice returned $4.40 and $3.60. Bad Conduct's payoff was $5.80.

The winner broke from the number two post position with War Of Roses on the extreme inside. Going around the first two these two had things to themselves. Jack Westrope, aboard War Of Roses, was content to allow Resilient to cut out all the early pace.

As the field swung for home, and the top pair still had things their way, War Of Roses made a desperate bid to get to the leader. The two did match strides the best part of the stretch run, but in the final yards Culmone called upon his mount for one last fling and the 5-year-old responded beautifully to draw off by a half length.

Resilient won the Buckeye, Canadian championship and Newport handicaps last year but this season had been able to reach the winner's circle but once.

War Of Roses scored in the Jersey Stakes last year, then seemed to develop some ailment and was laid up following the Hialeah Park session. Today, he ran with his old form.

Big League Ball Players Seldom See World Series

By BOB CONSIDINE
NEW YORK, Oct. 4 (INS) — You seldom see a big league ball player among the spectators at a World Series.

Various reasons have been advanced to explain this phenomenon. It has been said that by and large they're too cheap to make the trip, that the clubs won't set aside tickets for them, that there's no more reason for them to attend than a plumber on his day off would think of watching some other plumber work, and that they're sore because they're not in the show.

There may be another reason: Auguish. The thought of suffering by remote control doesn't readily come to mind. You think of big leaguers as case-hardened pros. But it's there. A few of us were watching the remnants of the American League race with Joe DiMaggio, a fellow who could catch a fly ball blindfolded while running barefooted across a bed of coals. Joe was sweating quietly. The Yanks had a two-run lead over Boston. To the amateurs seated around Joe, all was serene . . . The game would be over in a few minutes.

"They'll get the tying run at the plate," DiMaggio said with a note of resignation. "They always do."

The next guy walked and the batter who followed him represented the tying run.

"Now," remarked one of the most gifted fielders of all time, "now is when you pray the fellow doesn't hit one to you."

An admirer's eyebrow went up an inch. "But you could catch a ball in your hip pockets . . ."

"Now," Joe repeated, looking at the play, "is when a ballplayer prays the fellow doesn't hit one to him."

The batter promptly hit one to a fine boy named Andy Carey, playing third. DiMag closed his eyes. The ball went through Carey's legs and the Yankees blew the game.

The swarming fans around the World Series give a deceptive air of health to a pretty sick industry — baseball.

There aren't many smiling owners and stockholders among the brass in attendance. The condition of the game has aroused the attention of the Wall Street Journal. The financial paper made a spot check and has come up with these conclusions:

Fans through the country are tired of perennial Yankee victories. Night baseball is keeping youngsters away from ballparks. Television is killing off minor league interest ("why pay to see second-rate ball-players when you can see the best for nothing!").

Everything has gone up in prices: Basic salaries, travel, hotel, food, even baseball caps (they sell from $6 to $10 each and the average team uses 15 dozen a year). The ballparks are old, demand much upkeep (painting costs up to 30 per cent in 5 years). New day fans finds the parks uncomfortable, hard to reach. The owners, losing patronage, wonder whether to kill off telecasts or surrender further to the medium. Branch Rickey would like to sell rights to Pittsburgh Pirates road games but no sponsor wants to buy the shabby product. The pennant-winning Dodgers would have lost money this year if deprived of TV income. So would many also-rans.

The next move (to be made some dark night when nobody's watching): increase ticket prices.

If any further proof was needed that the art of baseball writing has been replaced by statistics it was supplied by the press box announcer at the start of the second game in the Yankee Stadium.

"Temperature in the press box," the man intoned, "is sixty-eight degrees."

It may live in history as the least important fact of the twentieth century.

(Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.).

Passes, Line Play Stressed By Navy

ANNAPOLIS, Oct. 4 (AP) — Line assignments and passing offense got the emphasis today as Navy's football team ran through a two-hour workout for its game with Pitt in Baltimore Saturday.

With quarterback George Welsh calling the shots, the Middies worked against the junior varsity to sharpen an aerial offense that carried them to victories over William and Mary 7-0, and South Carolina 26-0, in their first two games.

New Tourney Planned

LONDON, Oct. 4 (AP) — The British Professional Golfers' Assn. today announced a Stuart C. Goodwin Tournament next year with prize money of $14,700—a record in Britain. Sir Stuart Goodwin is a vice president of the PGA.

Play-By-Play Account Of Final Game Of Series

Dodgers First
Gilliam bounced out to Rizzuto. Reese raised a soft fly to Cerv. Snider bounced out, Martin to Skowron.
No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees First

Dodgers Second
Martin tossed out Campanella. Furillo flied to Howard. Hodges walked. Martin got Hoak's bouncer and threw him out.
No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees Second
Berra lined to Snider. Zimmer threw out Bauer. Skowron got a ground-rule double that landed in the stands on one bounce. Reese flipped out Cerv.

Dodgers Third
Rizzuto scooped up Zimmer's grounder and threw him out. Podres bounced out to Martin. Gilliam walked. Reese lined to Cerv.
No runs, no hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees Third
Howard flied to Snider. Byrne was caught looking at a third strike. Rizzuto walked. Martin singled, Rizzuto stopped at second.
McDougald's grounder hit Rizzuto as he slid into third and the runner was automatically out. McDougald was credited with a single.
No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

Dodger's Fourth
Snider struck out. Campanella doubled. Rizzuto made a good stop to retire Furillo as Campanella advanced to third.
Hodges singled, scoring Campanella.
McDougald threw out Hoak.
One run, two hits, no errors, one left.

Yankees Fourth
Gilliam and Snider crossed signals and Berra's fly dropped for a double between the two. Bauer flied to Furillo. Zimmer threw out Skowron, Berra taking third.
Reese caught Cerv's popout.

Dodgers Fifth
Zimmer struck out. Podres fouled to McDougald. Gilliam rolled out to Martin.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.
Yankees Fifth
Howard flied to Gilliam. Byrne was out on strikes. Hoak threw out McDougald.
No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Dodgers Sixth
Reese singled. Snider bunted and was safe when Skowron, dropped the ball in making the tag.
Campanella dropped a sacrifice bunt and was out, Byrne to Martin covering first. Reese went to third and Snider to second.
Furillo was intentionally passed, filling the bases.
Stengel signalled the end for Byrne. Bob Grim was the new pitcher.
Hodges flied to Cerv, Reese scoring as Snider dashed into third after the catch.
Grim's second pitch to Hoak bounced in front of the plate, rolled away from Berra, Furillo going to second as Snider held third.
Hoak walked, filling the bases. Second time.
George Shuba batted for Zimmer and hit to Skowron who tossed to Grim, covering first, for the out.
One run, one hit, one error, three left. (The run was unearned).

Yankees Sixth
Martin walked. McDougald bunted and beat Podres' throw for an infield single. Martin took second.

Amoros made a spectacular catch of Berra's bid for an extra base hit and McDougald was doubled up at first, Amoros to Reese to Hodges, Martin holding second. Reese bobblec Bauer's grounder but recovered to get his man with a strong throw to Hodges.

Dodgers Seventh
Podres bounced out to Martin. Gilliam singled. Gilliam was cut down stealing. Berra to Rizzuto. Reese struck out.
No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Yankees Seventh

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
AXYDLBAAXR
is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Chest Campaign Kickoff Gets Ball Rolling

Speakers Cite Aims, Works Of Agencies

The spirit of the Community Chest is people helping people, C. Vernon Thomas, special representative of the public relations department of the B&O Railroad, said last night in Central YMCA in getting the 1955-56 Community Chest drive under way.

"Community Chest is each citizen joining in each act of goodness and mercy which the nine Red Feather agencies enact during the year," he said.

He emphasized that today the Community Chest is an organized, united way of furthering in a sensible means the chore of raising funds to support these agencies.

Thomas pointed out that the Community Chest started in 1913. By 1930 there were 39 of these united campaigns working in the nation. Today there are over 2,000 doing good.

Formerly there were many drives that resulted in wasted time and effort.

Agencies Essential

These volunteer organizations are absolutely essential to the well-being of a municipality, he said, adding that the Red Feather is recognized as a symbol of a good neighbor.

He pointed out a 16-year-old Girl Scout who while swimming this summer found a man floating face down on the water. By some manner she succeeded in getting the stricken swimmer to shore and applied artificial respiration until the pulmotor arrived. It was this Girl Scout training that helped save the man's life.

Then there was the case of the 11-year-old Cub Scout who had learned first aid through this Scout program. While returning home from delivering his papers one evening, he heard a cry coming from a nearby railroad.

Heroism And Charity

A six-year-old child had his leg nearly cut off. Using the leather strap of his newspaper bag, the Cub Scout applied a tourniquet and kept the injured lad from bleeding to death.

Then, Thomas said, there is the appealing sight of the youngsters in an unfortunate family being given milk and clothing, and a few toys at Christmas they otherwise would not have been able to get.

Or the numerous old people — helpless and with no one to turn to — who are being aided by their neighbors, he said.

Each one in a community giving to the Red Feather drive joins in with these Christian acts, he added.

Thomas concluded by appealing to the citizens of Cumberland to give, not as their head dictates, but as their heart dictates.

The meeting opened with invocation by Rev. Kenneth Grove, pastor of Emmanuel Methodist Church.

Kopp Honors Workers

Tribute to the 700 Cumberlanders who have volunteered to give their time, in addition to their money, to act as solicitors, was given by Dr. Charles L. Kopp, general drive chairman.

He said it is amazing to have so many interested in the welfare of Cumberland.

Dr. Kopp pointed out that $125,974 is a large goal, but there is a strong united effort in this campaign that will put the drive over the top.

Introduced were Dr. Lillian C. Compton, chairman of the residential section; H. D. Barber, chairman of the sales army; Robert E. Barnard, chairman of the classified section, and James W. Bishop, chairman of the advance gifts committee.

Also presented were Robert W. Brown, Community Chest president; Mrs. Anne Everline, executive secretary of the Community Chest; and Leonard Weiner, drive director.

The benediction was offered by Very Rev. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church and rural dean of Western Maryland.

National Letter Writing Week Is Celebrated By Post Office Here

This is National Letter Writing Week.

And, according to Thomas F. Conlon Sr., local postmaster, the observance, which ends October 8, should serve as a reminder to all Americans of one of our greatest freedoms — the sure, safe and speedy transmittal of uncensored mail.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield points out that since the earliest days of the Republic, citizens have been guaranteed the right of uncensored mail.

Chest Drive Opens

Dr. Charles L. Kopp (left), general Community Chest Campaign chairman, and T. J. Klaunberg, (right), Baltimore and Ohio Railroad superintendent here, chat with Vernon Thomas, special representative of the B&O who was principal speaker last night at a dutch treat kickoff dinner which officially opened the campaign. Goal for the drive is $125,974.

Polio Vaccine Priorities May Be Dropped By Spring

Children 5 through 9 have priority in the polio vaccination program which is being resumed in Maryland, but by next spring supplies may be adequate for persons of any age, according to a letter sent to all county physicians by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer.

Safe Driving Program Set By VFW

A safety drive, designed to aid in preventing serious injuries to children and adults and unnecessary accidents in the city, is being undertaken by Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW.

Jack Diehl, trustee of the organization and chairman of the drive, last night said the project is being held in cooperation with the City Police Department.

Each month through this winter, a prize will be awarded to the most deserving motorist who shows just a little more courtesy or care in avoiding accidents and injuries to individuals.

Diehl pointed out that the project will be continued until next spring, and is part of the Community service program of the VFW.

The art of safe driving is being stressed with deserving motorists being rewarded.

The drive is now under way, Diehl added, and motorists are asked to be just a little more cautious in driving within the city limits as well as out on the highway.

Assisting Diehl in the drive are Commander Cornelius Rice and Bert Ways, a social member of the local organization.

Plan To Solve Alley Dispute Is Negotiated

A partial mutual understanding was reported yesterday by Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz on the procedure to be used to solve a North End alley problem.

He said the plan was worked out Monday at City Hall during a conference attended by Frank A. Bennett, owner of the warehouse along the alley, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and members of his staff.

The alley behind Columbia Avenue has been closed by the commissioner's orders until it is made safer.

The city, he said, will check on surface water and drainage from homes which Bennett claims is running over the property.

When this problem is solved, Bennett would take steps to provide a concrete wall or cribbing which would allow the alley to be used for two-way traffic.

Buchholz related recently that during the construction of an addition to his warehouse, Bennett constructed a road down over the bank from the alley. The bank was cut away and the city claims Bennett is over the line by 10 feet.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold a child health conference today at 9:30 a. m. in Westernport and a prenatal clinic today from 9 a. m. to noon in City Hall.

When do the Health Departments plan to resume their polio vaccination program?

After the current polio season is over. Usually the season closes with the onset of cold weather, early in November, in Maryland. Since this is a year of relatively low incidence of polio, some private physicians have elected to go forward with their own vaccination plans.

Who is eligible for polio vaccination?

Because of the overall shortage of vaccine, the plans set up on national and state levels for equitable distribution require that physicians and parents observe the priority given to children in the 5 through 9 age group. By next spring, supplies of vaccine should be adequate for persons of all ages, a technical committee has advised.

How will the vaccine be given?

Children in the 5 through 9 age group will receive vaccine either from their private physician, who will purchase it, or at Health Department clinics. The Health Department plans to give it to children to whom it would normally give toxoid for diphtheria prevention.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, however, will provide free vaccine for the second dose for the 3,615 first and second graders who this spring received their first dose.

The Health Department will also provide free vaccine for any child who registered for the National Foundation's program this spring, but did not get to start the series.

What vaccine dosage schedule will the Health Department follow?

There will be an interval of at least one month between first and second inoculations, followed by a booster dose some months later. The booster shot may best be given in April, May or early June.

When will other children or adults be eligible for polio vaccination?

Not until announcement has been made that the present priority group — now children from 5 through 9 — has been changed.

Jaycees Will Hear Safety Talk Tonight

A safety talk will feature the meeting of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at 6:30 p. m. today at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, according to Oscar H. Lashley Jr., president.

The speaker will be Lynn Walker, safety inspector for the State Department of Labor and Industry.

Driver Has Heart Attack At Wheel, Dies

Alert Passenger Prevents Crash

A former school bus driver in Garrett County, who drove children to Grantsville school for many years, suffered a heart attack yesterday about noon while driving a car en route to Meyersdale, Pa., and died later in a hospital there.

The victim was Jefferson T. Durst, 63, of Negro Mountain. He suffered the attack about noon yesterday and another passenger in the auto took control of the auto, avoiding a serious accident.

Mr. Durst was born near Accident, May 29, 1891, and was a son of the late George and Isabella Durst.

For many years he drove the school bus transporting children from the Negro Mountain area to Grantsville. Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Lattie (Platter) Durst; three sons, Edison L. Durst, Accident; Ralph Durst, Meyersdale; and Ernest Durst, Grantsville.

Also surviving are a brother, William Durst, Grantsville RD.; two sisters, Mrs. Cynthia Hetrick, and Mrs. Effie Beeman, both of Grantsville; and 17 grandchildren including Dennis Durst, who was raised from birth by he and his wife.

Mr. Durst was a member of the Church of the Brethren. A funeral service will be conducted on Friday at 2 p. m. at the Loch Lynn Church with Rev. Ross Spiker, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, officiating.

Interment will be in the Durst Cemetery, Negro Mountain. The body is at the residence.

City And County Groups To Talk About Water

City and county officials will meet at the City Hall at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, October 12, for a discussion of future water supply plans.

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners received confirmation of the date at its meeting yesterday.

Expected to attend the coming meeting are the county commissioners, the Mayor and City Council and Albert H. Hargreaves, director of industrial promotion for the Chamber of Commerce.

Water Commissioner William J. Edwards has recommended that the city and county officials hold such a meeting in view of Cumberland's water improvement program under a $750,000 bond issue.

Mayor Roy W. Eves has said that the city has been exploring the possibility of a third dam as a reservoir for the city. Some weeks ago the county commissioners referred a resolution of Commissioner C. N. Wilkinson to Hargreaves. That resolution urged investigation of the county's future water plans.

Mayor Eves has suggested that if the county goes into such a program it should consider supplying water to areas outside incorporated communities.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Gebert, Carlisle, Pa., announce the birth of a daughter yesterday at the hospital there. The mother is the former Helen Clare Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David T. Davis, 653 Washington Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Barnard, Mishawaka, Ind., former residents, announce the birth of a son Monday at a hospital there.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. McGreevy, Frostburg, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smith, Walnut Street Extended, Westernport, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard G. Miller, RD 4, city, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Moreland, Slanesville, W. Va., a son Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennett, Spring Gap, a son Monday.

Kelly Boulevard To Be Closed For Flood Work

Detour Plan Goes Into Effect Thursday

Kelly Boulevard will be closed for about 10 days, beginning tomorrow at 7 a. m., while the flood control contractor is paving a relocated section of the thoroughfare. Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz announced yesterday.

Traffic will be detoured by way of Patterson and Avirett avenues while the work is in progress, he added.

Patterson Avenue is in good shape, he said, since it was recently improved with light surface treatment.

Buchholz urged all who use the detours to drive over Avirett Avenue crossing with extreme caution, even though it is equipped with warning lights, since it lies on a blind curve.

Crossing Is Readied

He added he has asked the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to place a "slow order" on the crossing while the work is in progress, and that railroad officials have indicated this will be done.

The railroad, he added, has placed the crossing in first-class condition in preparation for the heavy traffic.

Kelly Boulevard is being raised by the E. J. Albrecht Company, contractor for the current flood protection work, so the levee on the West Side will tie into the B & O embankment near where Water Street intersects with Kelly Boulevard.

Will Build Levee

The boulevard is being raised in the same manner as was Route 40 at the upper end of the Wills Creek channel improvement work last year.

The Water Street levee will extend down to the West Side flood wall built last fall. From the east end of the flood wall, it will extend to the Industrial Dam and then to the confluence of Wills Creek with the Potomac River at Riverside Park.

Bloodmobile Unit Collects 103 Pints

Yesterday afternoon some 103 pints of blood were given in Frostburg during a visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile from Johnstown.

Quota for the day was set at 150 pints, according to Mrs. Kathleen Todd, blood recruitment chairman.

She said 131 persons were scheduled and 50 failed to report to the American Legion home to donate blood.

There were 36 "walk-ins" and 14 rejects which included residents with colds. Mrs. Todd said there were 10 persons on replacement who gave blood that was received by three patients at Miners Hospital.

Ten persons joined the Gallon Club yesterday. They are John Kopper, Charles Chappell, Mrs. June Perdue, Mrs. Janice Phillips, Alfred Drew, Mrs. Edith Spataro, Lloyd Griffith, G. Franklin Martin and Mrs. Ellen Diehl, all of Frostburg, and John Miller, of Mt. Savage.

Physicians of the community were on duty during the six-hour period when blood was given by residents of Frostburg and the immediate area.

On Monday, some 131 pints of blood were collected here when the mobile unit was at the Eagles home on North Mechanic Street.

Ten persons also joined the Gallon Club during the visit.

To Hold Bake Sale

The Women's League of Beth Jacob Synagogue will hold a bake sale Thursday from 10 a. m. until 2 p. m. in the Singer Sewing Centre, Baltimore Street. Mrs. Robert Dezen and Mrs. Samuel Arzt are cochairmen.

R. BOWEN HARDESTY

Teachers College President To Be Inaugurated Oct. 11

R. Bowen Hardesty will be formally inaugurated as president of State Teachers College at Frostburg next Tuesday at 2 p. m. in Compton Hall on the college campus.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin and members of the State Board of Education will be among those participating in the ceremony.

Hardesty has been filling the presidency at the college since the retirement in December 1954 of Miss Lillian C. Compton, who had been president for nearly ten years.

Immediately before coming to the post at Frostburg, Hardesty had been superintendent of schools in Garrett County.

William A. Gunter of Frostburg, member of the State Board of Education, will preside at the inaugural exercises. The invocation will be by Rev. Edward A. Godsey, pastor of First Methodist Church, Frostburg.

Governor McKeldin will bring greetings to the new president of the college from the state, and the Maryland Singers will sing "Be Glad Then, America."

Thomas G. Pullen, superintendent of Maryland schools, will introduce the principal speaker, Dr. J. Earl Moreland, president of Randolph-Macon College, Ashland, Va. The anthem, "Praise to the Lord," will follow.

Jerome Frampton Jr., vice president of the State Board of Education, will introduce the newly inaugurated president for his inaugural address.

Benediction will be by Rev. W. DeWitt Dickey of Calvary Methodist Church, Mt. Airy. The professional and recessional will be played by Joseph L. Derry, organist.

Some 2,000 Records Collected In Drive

About 2,000 phonograph records, collected by the Cumberland Fire Department, have been turned over to an area institution.

Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan and Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said they appreciated the response of the public.

Not only did the large number of records turn up following the appeal but also there were two record players given to the department.

Anyone desiring to have records picked up is asked to contact any of the four fire stations and firemen will gladly come for them.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Elsie M. McKee vs. Wallace M. McKee Jr.

Water Problem At Mt. Savage School Probed

Well Mechanism Being Checked

A renewed effort was started yesterday to improve the water supply at Mt. Savage School when the well driller went to the scene to determine whether the pump in the one producing well is working properly.

Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster said yesterday afternoon that Frank V. Carpenter of Ridgeley, the well driller, went to the site yesterday to begin his check.

Last Friday afternoon classes at the school had to be excused early because there was no water coming from the well to the school. A truck equipped with a 3,000-gallon tank hauled five loads of water which were stored in a 20,000-gallon tank at the school. That is enough to supply the school's needs for two or three days. More water is to be hauled today or tomorrow.

Attend Meeting

Webster and Joseph T. Downey, supervisor of maintenance in the county schools, met last Friday afternoon with the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly and a Mt. Savage PTA committee to discuss school problems — water being the most pressing.

Since the Mt. Savage School was completed in 1952 two water wells at the school have been drilled. One now produces no water but the other usually has provided sufficient water for the school needs. On several occasions September a year ago the producing well seemed to replenish its supply when it was shut down while water was being hauled to the school, Webster said. Twice this year classes have been excused early because of a lack of water but the well has shown no "comeback" tendencies.

The most obvious solution to the water problem appears to be to check the wells' mechanism. If that proves in good working order, the wells probably then will be drilled deeper to see if a new source can be found. In the meantime water will have to be hauled.

Long Range Plan

A long-range suggestion for remedying the situation is the proposed tapping of a water supply that now runs through a Western Maryland Railway tunnel in Somerset County, Pa., some two-and-one-half miles northwest of the school site.

This water now flows in an easterly direction toward Wellerburg, Pa. It has been suggested that a levee be laid to divert the water toward Mt. Savage. A dam also would have to be constructed to impound the water and a pipe line would have to be laid to carry the water to the school site.

Among other problems discussed at the meeting Friday were acoustic tile for the music room and a new athletic field. The school superintendent reminded the PTA that both improvements are scheduled as part of the $200,000 school improvement program which will follow the current $350,000 program. About $50,000 is earmarked for Mt. Savage School.

Webster informed State Senator Charles M. See that the land is being surveyed and an engineering study will be made on the proposed athletic field. Before a decision is made on the field it will be discussed with the Mt. Savage PTA.

Kiwanis Plans Ladies Night

The Cumberland Kiwanis Club is planning "everybody's birthday party" for its ladies night to be held Thursday, October 13, at the Cumberland Country Club.

Novel invitations will ask members to state the month and day of their birth but not the year. Each guest is asked to bring along a "white elephant" for a gift, to be distributed at a "Presentorium."

The birthday party will include a "mixer" for early arrivals, and a closing songfest in which the assembly will serenade in turn each month-group.

A tentative agreement has been reached covering a general wage increase and some fringe benefits. Fringe benefits include company-paid welfare insurance for pensioners; an additional holiday and improved vacation benefits for employees.

Meetings of Local 26 to vote on the agreement will be held Friday at 10 a. m. for second shift workers and 7:30 p. m. for remaining shifts.

If this agreement is ratified by the membership of Local 26, it will be effective October 3 and will affect approximately 1,800 hourly-rated Kelly employees.

During the negotiations, Local 26 was represented by James W. Stein, President of Local 26; Raymond C. Adams; Clyde E. O'Baker; A. E. Johnson; L. F. Barkman and R. C. Murray, special representative of the International Rubber Workers Union. The company was represented by F. J. Bell, personnel manager; H. H. Lowery and H. Nelson.

News Photo Used In Health Bulletin

A Cumberland News photograph taken during this spring's polio vaccination program is used on the front page of the Maryland State Department of Health Bulletin for September.

It shows Dr. Winter R. Frantz, county health officer, administering a shot of Salk polio vaccine to one of the 3,615 first and second graders who were inoculated in April.

These children are slated to get their second shot in November, according to current plans.

Map Handicapped Drive
